

The Sovereignty movement congratulates: the Israeli government renews a fresh Zionist spirit

The Sovereignty Movement congratulates the Prime Minister, Mr. Binyamin Netanyahu, and the cabinet ministers for their decision to regularize the status of nine communities in Judea and Samaria that, with God's help, will blossom and cause the Zionist spirit to flourish for the coming generations.

A new spirit is filling the land, a spirit of return to Zionist values, settlement, construction, and love for the Land of Israel.

Even if it is difficult to see the changes transpiring within the first few weeks since the establishment of the government, the buds are already visible.

It is not easy to turn the rudder of Israel's ship rightward after years of navigating with the mistaken, naïve, and dangerous belief that withdrawals and concessions are what will convince the enemy to consider us a peace-seeking people. These were years during which our every concession was perceived as weakness that resulted in the strengthening of the enemy and increasing its appetite.

Therefore, we welcome the steps taken by the new government that restore the people in Israel to the Zionist vision of a sovereign Jewish state in our country. Settlement and the application and exercise of sovereignty over the expanses of our country based on a belief in the justice of our path, will make it clear to us and the world that we are a strong nation, we have a great destiny, and we are striding toward realizing that vision. May we continue to grow stronger.

Yehudit Katsover and Nadia Matar
The Sovereignty Movement
February 12, 2023